

JOBPARTNERS HOSTS USER GROUPS AROUND THE WORLD

Jobpartners' International User Groups Provide Opportunity for Customers to Share Best Practice

London, 31st October 2006 – Jobpartners, the European leader of software solutions dedicated to the PRM (People Relationship Management) market, today announced that its first US User Group will take place in Boston on November 2nd, 2006. A User Group will also be hosted on November 28th, 2006 in France and early 2007 in the UK, Germany and the Netherlands.

One of the most important and topical issues for companies regarding human capital management has been the recent local employment legislations. Jobpartners ensures that its solutions comply with the legislations, and hence this topic will be discussed at the User Groups. The User Groups will also provide an opportunity for customers to share best practice in people relationship management and to gain an insight into the product roadmap.

“We are dedicated to ensuring our customers’ human capital processes are as effective as possible and ensuring that customers are kept up-to-date on our latest innovations and company news. This is the reason why we run the User Groups,” commented Patrice Barbedette, founder of Jobpartners. “Our business model places the customer at the centre of our business, and as a result our customer retention rate is an impressive 97%.”

Jobpartners’ mission is to enable its clients, mostly large global organisations, to attract, develop and retain the best people and become ‘Employers of Choice’, by providing software solutions designed to support people management strategies and processes.

For more information on the User Groups, please email: event@jobpartners.com

About Jobpartners

Founded in 2000 and headquartered in London, Jobpartners provides software solutions for qualitative human resources management and People Relationship Management (PRM). The leader in the European market, the company’s innovative and straightforward approach provides companies with strategic value by enabling them to establish privileged relationships with new job applicants and current employees. The company’s solutions address recruitment issues as well as internal mobility, performance management, executives and key people management, succession planning and career management. With four subsidiaries in Europe, Jobpartners has clients in 45 countries and across all industry sectors. Jobpartners has been ranked the tenth fastest growing private company by Real Business in its Hot 100 list of 2006 and the Sunday Times ranked Jobpartners in 44th place in its Tech Track 100 list of 2006. For more information, please visit www.jobpartners.com