

JOBPARTNERS EXPANDS ITS PRESENCE IN EUROPE

Two new offices in Europe to support development and continuous growth

London, 13 February 2007 – Jobpartners, the European leader of software solutions dedicated to the people relationship management (PRM) market, today announced that the company has opened two new offices, in Belgium and in Poland. With a remarkable sustained growth, recognised by the Deloitte Fast 500 2006, which ranked the company eleventh in its list of the fastest growing technology companies in Europe, Jobpartners continues to expand in Europe.

With its headquarters in the UK, and offices in France, Germany, the Netherlands and Spain, Jobpartners is a leader in the European PRM market. The company is consolidating its presence in Europe by opening a sales subsidiary in Belgium in order to forge closer relationships with its current customers and to develop the business, and a development centre in Poland to ensure Jobpartners remains at the forefront of innovation.

“Since our creation in 2000, we have seen an impressive and continuous growth. The creation of these new subsidiaries is part of our development strategy, along with the strengthening of our teams and our investments in research and development,” comments Xavier Marchioni, CEO of Jobpartners.

With more than 70 large customers, which deploy its solutions in more than 45 countries, Jobpartners has gained a worldwide recognition for its ability to help organisations in the management of their candidates and employees. Jobpartners’ solutions answer the needs and expectations of large international organisations by supporting people processes, including recruitment, internal mobility, career management, succession planning, annual review, performance and compensation reviews. Some of the solutions are available in 25 different languages (including Asiatic languages).

About Jobpartners

Founded in 2000 and headquartered in London, Jobpartners provides software solutions for qualitative human resources management and People Relationship Management (PRM). The leader in the European market, the company’s innovative and straightforward approach provides companies with strategic value by enabling them to establish privileged relationships with new job applicants and current employees. The company’s solutions address recruitment issues as well as internal mobility, performance management, executives and key people management, succession planning and career management. With six subsidiaries in Europe, Jobpartners has clients in 45 countries and across all industry sectors. Jobpartners has been ranked the tenth fastest growing private company by Real Business in its Hot 100 list of 2006 and the Sunday Times ranked Jobpartners in 44th place in its Tech Track 100 list of 2006. For more information, please visit www.jobpartners.com.